1. a supercontinent that included all the continents as one landmass
2. the idea that the continents are in constant motion on the surface of Earth